Gemma Noble practises in all areas of criminal law and has extensive experience of defending in the Crown Court, Magistrates' Court and Youth Court.

She accepts both private and public instructions, and has been instructed in a wide range of criminal offences including violence, sexual offences, drugs, dishonesty, confiscation, and road traffic offences.

Gemma also acts in a range of civil matters including SHPO, SRO, DVPO, Closure Order and CBO proceedings. She has an interest in regulatory matters and experience with the Nursing & Midwifery Council.

She joined 3TG following successful completion of her pupillage. Before joining Chambers, Gemma worked as a paralegal and police station representative. She also volunteered as an Appropriate Adult, so is experienced with the issues that often arise when representing young or vulnerable clients. Gemma is a personable, down to earth and persuasive advocate with the ability to put clients at ease.

Expertise

Organised Crime

Gemma has appeared as both a led junior and junior alone in a number of organised crime matters, ranging from county lines drugs supply to violence involving firearms.

Notable Organised Crime cases

R v T (Operation Abasia) [2020]

Led junior in a conspiracy to cause GBH and possession of firearms with intent to endanger life trial following a shooting at a pay to enter party in east London in October 2017.

R v D (Operation Succisa) [2020]

D pleaded guilty to four counts of PWITS A (dealing directly to undercover officers). Persuaded the court to sentence outside the guidelines and secured a 12-month community order.

R v M (Operation Coryzal) [2021]

M was involved in a large OCN supplying Class A drugs in North London.

Confiscation and Asset Recovery

Gemma has experience in confiscation matters, largely those that follow drug-related cases. She has conducted substantive hearings and successfully persuaded the Crown to significantly reduce both benefit and available amount.

Notable Confiscation and Asset Recovery cases

R v M [2020]

M was serving a 10-year sentence for drugs supply. Benefit figure reduced by more than £250,000 and available amount reduced by £50,000.

Road Traffic & Motoring offences

Gemma has experience in all kinds of motoring offences, from dangerous driving to excess alcohol. She has successfully argued special reasons and exceptional hardship in a variety of cases.

Notable Road Traffic & Motoring offences cases

R v B [2020]

Dangerous driving and driving whilst disqualified. Third offence of driving whilst disqualified. B wrote off the vehicle during a police pursuit. SSO without conditions imposed.

R v W [2021]

W was sentenced as a totter and therefore at risk of a mandatory six-month disqualification from driving. Successfully persuaded the court of exceptional hardship to W's family and business.

Sexual Offences

Gemma has experience defending in sexual offences and opposing orders such as SHPOS and SROs.

Notable Sexual Offences cases

R v H [2021]

H accused of attempted voyeurism in a leisure centre changing room. H was a vulnerable adult with autism and an intermediary was required for the entire trial.

R v D [2021]

D appealed against the imposition of an indefinite Sexual Risk Order (SRO) which prohibited D from engaging in any sexual activity with a female unless he had notified the Police of their details within 24 hours of any activity, amongst other conditions. Successfully reduced the length of the order on appeal from indefinite to a fixed term.

Violence

Gemma has experience dealing with all types of violent offences, including DV and offences against emergency workers.

Notable Violence cases

R v F [2021]

F was charged with causing grievous bodily harm without intent after an incident involving a single punch resulted in the complainant suffering from bleeding on the brain.

R v S [2021]

S was accused of two separate assaults on police officers. Acquitted after trial of the most serious assault.

R v R [2020]

R was the subject of a Crimestoppers appeal after a random attack in the City of London left the complainant needing brain surgery.

R v C [2019]

C was accused of assaulting a child in a public place. The trial involved evidence from the child and mobile phone footage. C acquitted after trial.
