

Simon Gledhill

Call 2005

02073533102

Simon Gledhill is a leading defence junior in both the Criminal and Extradition Law.

Simon predominantly defends but does also accept instructions to prosecute on behalf of the CPS and other prosecution authorities. He is appointed to the CPS Advocates Panel at grade 4 and additionally approved to prosecute both Rape and Serious Sexual Assault Cases and Extradition cases.

He is regularly instructed in cases in the Crown Court, High Court and Court of Appeal. His practice sees him frequently (but not exclusively) instructed in cases in which there is an allegation of involvement in organised crime groups.

Simon has significant experience in cases involving allegations of serious financial offences, drug and firearm offences, and conspiracies offences. He has expert knowledge of the Proceeds of Crime legislation in relation to both its criminal and civil aspects.

He receives regular instructions in extradition cases acting for requested persons at both first instance hearings and, where required, High Court appeals. He predominantly appears in Part 2 cases and has acted against governments as diverse as the USA to Nigeria, Singapore to Paraguay.

Simon is both Chambers Secretary and Chair of Chambers Pupillage Committee. He is an approved advocacy trainer for the Middle Temple. He has also written articles published in the Barrister and New Law Journal, and regularly gives lectures on both Criminal and Extradition Law topics.

In the last 12 months Simon has, among others, been instructed in the following cases:
